

10+ month old HELP

Contributed by Debbie Davidson
Sunday, 14 October 2007

This should probably go in the forums, but I really need some advice here.

My 10-almost-11 month old bitch has not gone into heat yet. Is this normal? Does this mean she will be barren? She's the product of inbreeding (parents are brother/sister). COuld this be a factor?

Should I be worried.

This is my first bitch, so I really am out of my league here.

Thanks

Debbie